Operates Fridays (except holidays) – Full day

Driving along the coastal road you’ll reach the Corinth Canal where there will be a short stop, followed by a drive to Ancient Corinth, one of the most important Greek cities in ancient times and where St. Paul lived and preached. Here there is a visit to the famous winery of Nemea, one of the most popular vineyards in Greece. Greeks have produced wine since the Neolithic Age – 4000 B.C. and it has long been adored, praised and chanted about in the name of the god Dionysos. You’ll have a tour of the state of the art facilities and learn much about the production of Greek red wine. The underground cellars have more than 1000 oak barrels and you’ll taste some of the best wines in the domain.

Full Day Delphi (including lunch) $155
Operates Daily (except holidays) – Full day

En route to Delphi, the ancient sanctuary of the god Apollo, you’ll drive through Thebes, Levadia and Arachova. Perhaps the most famous site in classical Greece, the scale and diversity of Delphi’s excavations is amazing. See the Doric Temple of Apollo, the Castalian Springs, the Athenian Treasury and the Museum which offers many treasures, such as the Bronze Charioteer. (Museum closed on Tuesdays).

CRETE

Bustling, picturesque, and cosmopolitan, Heraklion, Chania, Rethymnon and Agios Nikolaos, Crete’s main cities and resort areas, are found on the north side of the island and brim with hundreds of shops, cafes, tavernas and ouzeries, and everywhere the delectable Cretan wine and fragrance of jasmine vines. Golden beaches trim the island, splashed by clear, warm sea perfect for swimming and other watersports. Whether you gather ‘round in a seaside taverna, relax in a comfy chair in a pastry shop, stroll in solitude on a deserted beach, or join the frivolity in Crete’s many discos and clubs, your experience will be a treasured memory.

RHODES

Rhodes, the legendary home of Helios, god of the sun, is the cosmopolitan jewel in the crown of the Dodecanese and enjoys 300 days of sunshine a year. Shangri-la for shoppers, beach and history lovers, the island trumpets the best nightlife outside of Athens. Although Rhodes has just 90,000 inhabitants, it hosts over a million visitors a year seeking not only the aforesaid nightlife, but magnificent beaches, medieval architecture, scenic villages and harbours (the scene in historic Mandraki Harbour is mindboggling). The Street of the Knights and stone-paved alleys in the Old Medieval Town will stop you in your tracks, as will the shops. Utterly fantastic. Another “must see”, the exquisite little town of Lindos is dominated by an imposing acropolis overlooking a calm, gorgeous bay, whitewashed houses and pebbled courtyards. The acropolis can be reached by donkey or on foot. We suggest the donkey. Great fun!

MYKONOS

Mykonos is the exemplar for Greek Isles blessed with soul, spirit, sea, sun, sand, shops and snazzy nightlife. The island attracts a discerning international clientele and the quality and standard are absolutely top-notch. Foremost are the beaches. Lapped by clean, clear Aegean Sea, most are framed by tavernas and bars catering to the sunbathers enjoying the action-packed scene. And always the sight of magenta bougainvillea draped over the blue domes and shutters shelters the interiors of the exquisite little white buildings that dot the island. The harbour is home to brightly painted fishing boats, tavernas and cafes. And just up the twisty streets - smart bars, posh restaurants, discos and clubs.

SANTORINI

Few ports in the world offer a more dramatic vista then that of Santorini. The austere cliffs of this magnificent isle rise from sapphire waters to reveal a sheer precipice, frosted with soft pastels. The crescent shaped legacy of a volcanic eruption that shook the Aegean in 1450 B.C. blowing out the island’s centre, some scholars believe the destruction was forerunner to the myth of Plato’s Lost Continent of Atlantis. History buffs interested in Minoan civilization should tour Akrotiri, nicknamed the “Minoan Pompeii.” The principal towns of Fira and Oia are perched on the rim of the submerged crater, and their colourful restaurants, tavernas and fashionable private homes tumble down the cliff-face like a sprinkling of sugar. Sunsets defy description and are best shared with others celebrating sundown. Classical music often plays and Santorini’s Boutari wine flows – prepare to banish all thought of sleep and enter the whirlwind nightlife! Santorini’s canvas is brushed with plenty of beauty spots including beaches unique for their volcanic black or red sand. Fine jewellery enthusiasts will find treasure in the multitude of gold shops lining the meandering streets. Look for the wide selection of colourful icons. The isle of Santorini generally exceeds even the wildest expectations!

PAROS

Paros is an island of great charm, golden beaches, good nightlife and Cycladic architecture. The port and capital, Parikia, offers a spirited marketplace and famous Byzantine cathedral. Naoussa, on the north coast, is a full-scale resort. In the interior, Lefkes offers well-preserved medieval buildings.

NAXOS

The largest island in the Cyclades, the hotels on green, fertile, Naxos cluster in port and on what may be the best beaches in the Cyclades. Island mountain villages preserve the island’s quiet, quaint and charming rhythms. The unique architecture is a reminder that Venetians ruled Naxos for 350 years.

CORFU

Immortalized in Homer’s Odyssey, the island of Corfu is renowned for its scenic charms, clear turquoise waters, gorgeous beaches, natural beauty and rich blend of Venetian, Neopolitan and Georgian style architecture in Corfu Town. Expect excellent shopping, sightseeing and nightlife.
